Happy Summer! Finally it's here – well it certainly is at the time of writing anyway (apologies for anyone reading this when it's pouring down with rain outside!)

It's been a busy few weeks for everyone and of course we're now on the last lap before the long awaited summer break, SATS are over and I'm sure Sports Day and the school production are very much on the horizon.

If you're still thinking about buying classroom equipment for installation in the summer, or maybe a projector and screen solution in your school hall, there are three really good reasons to contact Proactive AV today
